Global GHS Training Courses 2020 CIRS

Introduction to the Series

This series of training course is initiated and planned by David Wan, the Managing Director of CIRS Ireland. Information correctness and completeness is guided by Cloris Pan, the Leader of CIRS GHS service center.

This training course includes webinars activities and advanced articles. This series of webinars is provided by CIRS in conjunction with our partners in Japan and Russia. Japan Environmental Management Association for Industry (JEMAI), has been invited to give a presentation on Japan GHS and chemical regulations. ECOMOLE & Ecovostok, has been invited to give a presentation on EAEU GHS and EAEU REACH.

Time: Every Wednesday from 1 July to 16 September 2020, 15:00pm (GMT+1)/10:00am (PST)
Except the one in 8 Jul., which will be held on 16:00pm (GMT+1)

Access: Upon Registration you will receive an automatic email with access to the portal. You will also receive the link one week and one day before the webinar starts, by clicking that link, you will automatically join the webinar. Please note that space is strictly limited to a maximum of 100 attendees.

Background

CIRS has always held regular training events in order to provide our Clients, Partners and members of the Regulatory Sector, with the most up to date knowledge and changes to the ever-expanding field of international regulations. Some of our previous events include SMCR, HCF Asia conference and Dublin Conference as well as hosting a number of on-site training days with a number of our clients. However, this year due to the outbreak of COVID-19 we have been unable to provide this training in the usual face to face manner. As such CIRS is proud to announce a series of training webinars on Global GHS regulations available to our Clients and our regulatory network.
